Part 0 SCHOLARSHIP PROGRAM, MOIT & ICAK

Global Infrastructure Development Scholarship Program (GIDSP)

The Global Infrastructure Development Scholarship Program (GIDSP) funded by the Ministry of Land, Infrastructure and Transport (MOLIT) in Korea is designed to support Graduate Studies Program for government officials working in infrastructure development or related fields in partner countries of Korea.

The main goal of GIDSP is to support the training of key personnel who have the capacity to lead the sustainable physical development of Korea's partner countries through the transfer of Korea's know-how and experiences in infrastructure development.

The MOLIT launched the program with the International Contractors Association of Korea (ICAK), expecting to contribute to the capacity-building in infrastructure development of partner countries by allowing the participants to experience Korea's development process, acquire specialized knowledge in the field of infrastructure and physical development through intensive training, and strengthen the ability for infrastructure planning & management.

The program will make its best effort to support participants of GIDSP not only in expanding their knowledge of infrastructure development, but also in establishing valuable networks with scholars and professionals in Korea while experiencing Korean culture, society and history.

Ministry of Land, Infrastructure and Transport (MOLIT) in Korea

The Ministry of Land, Infrastructure and Transport (MOLIT) was a cabinet-level division of the government of South Korea. The ministry was originally the Ministry of Construction and Transportation.

A country's land should serve as a home for the people. Bearing this in mind, the ministry seeks more balanced territorial development with a focus on fostering innovation cities, along with other regions into real growth hubs. Through the so-called "New Deal for Urban Renewal", the goal is to improve the quality of life, create jobs, and secure future growth engines.

The ministry also tacks abnormal business practices to create industry conditions that help promote the mutual sustenance between operators and workers, thereby sharpening the competitive edge for the industry and improving the quality of jobs countrywide.

With regards to transportation services, the ministry is committed to better serving the public interest. Rather than viewing the state-run institution only from a profitability-oriented perspective, the ministry emphasizes the fundamental value of the public services for the people.

International Contractors Association of Korea (ICAK)

The International Contractors Association of Korea (ICAK) was established in 1976 as the nation's only promotion agency for the overseas construction industry. The main function of the ICAK is to facilitate Korean contractors' overseas business and to develop the industry as a whole.

The ICAK assists its 708 member companies in exploring overseas market, developing projects, and negotiating contracts. It also works to increase cooperation and understanding between the Korean construction industry and those of other nations.

As the nation's only think tank specialized in the overseas construction industry, the ICAK keeps abreast of important changes and developments in the world construction market. The ICAK also maintains important functions such as research & policy development, information service, plant project development & assistance, project appraisal & risk management, and education. In addition, the ICAK promotes bilateral and multilateral international cooperation, such as joint surveys on markets, information and personnel exchanges, and on-the-job training for key partner countries.

Part I	WELCOME MESSAGE

The Leading Education & Research Institution in Urban Sciences in Korea

서순탁

Suh, Soon Tak
President, University of Seoul

The history of the University of Seoul is the history of Korea in view of social development. Since its establishment in 1918, the University of Seoul has changed its specialized area from agriculture, to industry in the 1970's, and again to urban studies in the 1980's. The University of Seoul has become more prestigious in recent years as it develops strategically Urban Studies. As the only university sponsored by the Seoul Metropolitan Government, the University of Seoul is leading the education and research in Urban Studies in Korea.

Urbanization becomes a crucial phenomenon now, and the developing world is where this drastic urbanization is occurring. For the first time, more than half of world population lives in cities. In particular, over 90 percent of urban growth is taking place in the developing world at the moment. Urbanization in the developing world was once considered unmanageable and hence restricted. However, the question is not how to constrain urbanization, but how to best prepare for it, maximizing the benefits of urbanization by promoting sustainable development while minimizing the negative externalities of urbanization such as congestion, crime, sprawling slums and environmental pollution.

The Ministry of Land, Infrastructure and Transport (MOLIT), the International Contractors Association of Korea (ICAK) and University of Seoul (UOS) jointly offer a master degree program of infrastructure planning and development, especially designed for public officials from designated partner countries of Korea. It aims to enable public officials to enhance their ability to improve quality of their citizens' lives by providing world-class theoretical knowledge and Korea's practical experiences in infrastructure and territorial development.

The University of Seoul warmly welcomes all the participants of the MOLIT-ICAK-UOS Global Infrastructure Development Scholarship Program (GIDSP), pursuing the "Master's Program of Infrastructure Planning & Development (MIPD)," and encourages all of you to keep your passion.

Thank you.

Hub of 'International Networking' for Global Experts

Park, Hyeon
Dean of ISUS, University of Seoul

In the midst of rapid urbanization during the process of compressed economic growth our country has accumulated unique experiences and know-hows in urban development and administration field. Such urban growth of the Republic of Korea has helped gain the attention of many countries abroad hoping for an opportunity of sharing the experience. Meanwhile, although our construction companies have won high reputation in infrastructure development such as road, harbor and plant construction, the turning point for a qualitative take off has become necessary as the competition with other development-pursuing countries intensified.

Like so, having the domestic and foreign demand in consideration, providing a comprehensive solution relative to the urban development and management with our experience and know-hows and opening the way to the comprehensive package of urban development towards the whole world have become a national agenda that we must pursue. During the process, we anticipate further overseas expansion of the Korean construction companies by the development of new modules.

University of Seoul, which pioneered through the research and education of urban related fields, has met such demands of the current era by establishing the International School of Urban Sciences with the goal of fostering global city professionals in 2012. On one hand, we educate domestic city professionals so that they will be able to advance towards overseas urban development and management fields, and on the other hand, we provide foreign public officials the opportunity to learn the experience of Korea first-handedly by managing the International Urban Development Program (IUDP). In addition, our graduate school will be the platform on which domestic professionals and foreign public officials cultivate global perspectives and insights by interacting with each other and create an international network. The ISUS is committed to establishing itself as the center of research and international cooperation in the area of urban sciences.

We expect your continued interest and support. Thank you.

2. INTERNATIONAL SCHOOL OF URBAN SCIENCES (ISUS)

The International School of Urban Sciences (ISUS) of University of Seoul (UOS) was launched in Spring 2013 in an effort to contribute to the development of sustainable urban communities in the world through an interdisciplinary program of teaching, research, and outreach. ISUS offers two graduate programs in global construction management and sustainable urban & regional development. The two-year graduate degree programs seek to provide an interdisciplinary, engaged learning environment in which students from various fields acquire the knowledge and professional skills necessary for becoming leading practitioners in the field of environment policy and sustainable development.

In addition to the regular graduate programs, ISUS created the International Urban Development Program (IUDP) in cooperation with partner agencies and institutions in order to share Korea's achievement in urban and regional development with scholars and practitioners from the world.
